As a senior in the School of Informatics and Computing I have had the pleasure of creating and developing awesome projects pushing me to work harder and learn more.

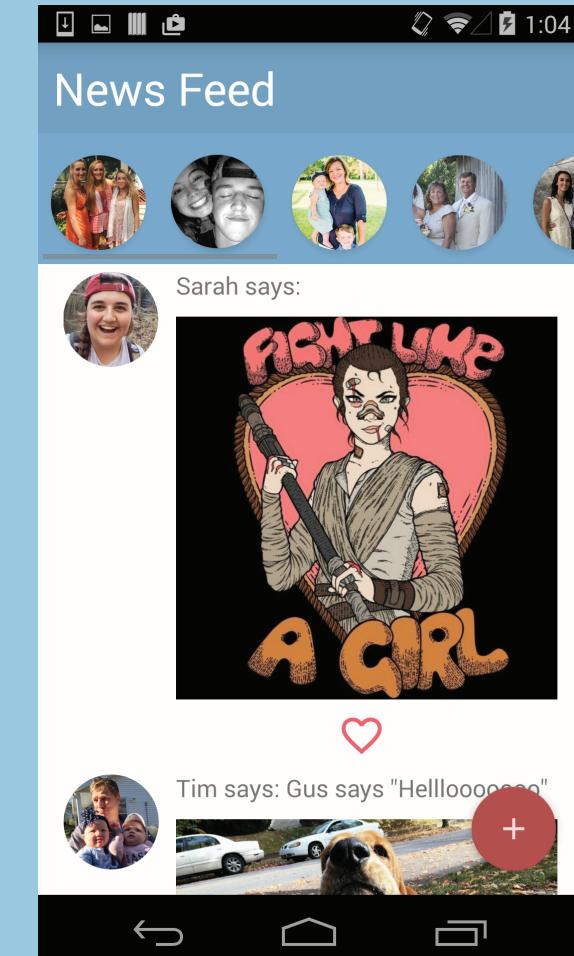

Kindred is a mobile app designed to help users stay connected with their family members. In particular, users will form a sort of “bubble” with their family members, inviting and connecting as a sort of social media platform on a much smaller scale. This way users can get updates of the family without logging onto multiple social media platforms (or for the less interested in being on social media at all, members can just use this as a platform).
